

What are Transition Teams?

The Oklahoma Transition Council consists of representatives from several state agencies, institutions of higher learning, parents, teachers, special education administrators, and faculty from career and technology centers. The council meets to design relevant, appropriate, and meaningful ways to support those professionals who are responsible for assisting students with disabilities in meeting post-secondary goals.

The creation of regional Transition Teams allows the collaboration and coordination of professionals in the field. Teams are comprised of teachers, administrators, vocational rehabilitation counselors, representatives from community partners, and others. Transition Teams meet regularly to develop and implement innovative ways to provide transition education.

The Owasso Area Transition Team is a collaborative partnership and our members consist of representatives from the following agencies:

The Department of Rehabilitation Services

Owasso Public Schools
Collinsville Public Schools
Skiatook Public Schools
Sperry Public Schools

Our Community has a variety of agencies available to provide assistance to families. The Community Resource Fair is your opportunity to visit with representatives from over 40 agencies to learn about the programs and services they offer.

Transition Services are crucial in supporting students as they move towards life after high school. Transition plans assist students with setting and meeting post-secondary goals in three key areas: college or vocational education and training, independent living, and career choices and employment.

What is Transition Planning?

Transition planning is a process mandated by the Individuals with Disabilities Act (IDEA 2004) for all students with disabilities. The purpose of transition planning is to help prepare a student for the move to post-school activities.

What are Transition Services?

Transition services are a coordinated set of activities, provided to the student by the school and sometimes other agencies, to promote a successful transition from high school to postsecondary education or employment, and independent living.

IDEA 2004 also adds the requirement that transition services be based on the student's strengths, as well as their preferences and interests. The addition of "strengths" makes it clear that the development of transition goals should build upon what the student can do, not just focus on what the student can't do.

What does the Transition Plan cover?

There are three primary domains addressed in the transition planning process; Education/Training, Employment, and Independent Living

At this event will have the opportunity to visit with representatives from over 40 community agencies and learn more about the services they provide.
